

Announcement

Z9 Security and Autec GmbH Partner to Bring Credential Readers, Electronic Locks, and Door Controllers into the Z9/Flex Ecosystem

Integration simplifies installation, accelerates time-to-market, and streamlines account management for OEM partners and dealers...

CARBORO, NC (September 24, 2025) — Z9 Security, the leader in flexible, interoperable cloud-based access control through its Z9/Flex platform, today announced a new technology partnership with Autec GmbH, a global provider of electronic security solutions. This collaboration integrates Autec’s credential readers, supported electronic locks, and intelligent door controllers into the Z9/Flex ecosystem, providing security integrators and end users with a unified, cloud-first access control platform.

Through this integration, members of the Z9/Flex ecosystem—including access control management OEMs, integrators, and dealers—gain the ability to manage Autec XMP-BABYLON devices from the cloud, including user and credential management as well as real-time monitoring and reporting.

“This partnership reflects our commitment to enabling an open, interoperable hardware ecosystem that benefits all members, from integrators to end users,” said Ken Larson, President of Z9 Security. “By integrating Autec XMP-BABYLON with Z9/Flex, we’re empowering integrators to deliver Autec’s robust, feature-rich platform as a seamless, cloud-first experience.”

“Autec is excited to join the Z9/Flex ecosystem,” said Sven Jochmann, Chief Operating Officer at Autec GmbH. “Our goal has always been to make advanced access control technology easy to deploy and manage. This partnership helps integrators deliver more value to their customers through a modern, cloud-based management experience.”

The Z9/Autec integration is available immediately. Learn more at www.z9security.com and www.autec-security.com.

About Z9/Flex

Z9/Flex is a cloud-based access control integration platform designed to meet the needs of access control software vendors, manufacturers, integrators, and dealers. Its white-labeling capabilities, broad hardware compatibility, and seamless integration with leading security platforms make it the ideal choice for businesses looking to deliver advanced, branded solutions. For more information, visit <https://z9security.com/flex>.

About Autec GmbH

Autec is a global provider of advanced electronic security solutions, specializing in RFID readers, electronic locking systems, and intelligent door controllers that protect people, property, and assets. With a commitment to innovation, reliability, and interoperability, Autec delivers high-performance access control products trusted by organizations worldwide—from commercial and industrial facilities to critical infrastructure sites. Learn more at www.autec-security.com.